Sending Into The Harvest

We wish you could have been with us at our home in California last night. A group of medical students and health professionals gathered to “commission” another group of graduating soon to be physicians. Several students who have been involved in our various ministry movement activities are about to embark on their residency training . All have a passion for seeing God use them to care for both the physical and spiritual needs of their patients.. After graduation this weekend, they spread to many points from Pennsylvania to the deep South to Alaska. Your investment in our work have made a difference in the lives of so many who are graduating this spring from nursing school, completing residency, fellowship and will now be moving into full practice. Thank you!

In just a few weeks, we'll begin our 13th annual Whole Person Care Preceptorship. Of the many who applied to attend, we've invited 30 select students to join us. But this year, we're adding a new component. We'll have 15 pre-med/pre-health professional students join us at the preceptorship for the last 10 days. The preceptorship students will be responsible for individually training the pre-pro students to do whole person care. It's sorta a see one, do one, teach one thing. Our prayer is that not only will the pre-pros vision grow, but the preceptorship students will return to their campuses more confident and ready to train their classmates in whole person care.

Earlier this morning, Bob left for a Tennessee meeting of health professionals and leaders who are influencing health student ministries nationwide. They'll be discussing current and future strategies to reach and disciple students in their walks with God.

Spring is a busy time for us. Your prayers for us as we lead and plan would be very much appreciated. Pray that our dependence and vision would be solely on Jesus. He alone has the Words of eternal life.
