New Doors of Opportunity

God is opening new ministry adventures for our family and our ministry.

Our son, Jordan, was recently accepted to do a one-year internship with Cru. He'll be joining several other recent college graduates and traveling to Eastern European university cities where there are no Cru campus ministry movements. Upon their arrival, they'll canvas local churches and colleges searching for Christians who may have a passion to present Christ at local universities. They'll lead core ministry training and then help those disciples launch new movements.

Our daughter, Elissa, was recently accepted into nursing school at California Baptist University. God has blessed her long hours of study and she's so thrilled at this chance to take another step towards her dream of serving in overseas missions. Last summer, Elissa attended our Pre-Pro Health Student Project and received hands on training and exposure to providing spiritual care for her future patients. We are excited to see how God will use her.

Next month Bob will travel to Atlanta to speak at the national meeting of Christian Community Health Fellowship (CCHF). This organization includes professionals who are committed to living out the gospel through healthcare among the poor. Some work in secular settings- community health clinics, universities, residency programs, etc. Others work in faith-based clinics that strive to provide distinctively Christian care. Bob has been asked to do training on providing authentic spiritual care in clinical settings. We would appreciate your prayers.

We are completing out annual recruiting and application phase for our upcoming summer preceptorship and pre-pro project. We are expecting our largest combined group to date. God is working and we are so grateful that you are joining with us in this adventure. Thank you!!!
